Jennifer Angel Happy Bones

Jennifer Angel, a New Mexico resident since 1969, comes from a family of Professional artists. Her Father, "L.

Henry" Jones was a renowned pastel portrait artist who made a living from his superior talent. Her Mother, "JoVenia" Jones, creates tender storytellers, unique Nativity scenes & whimsical characters that make you smile.

Following her parents lead, Jennifer listened to her heart which eventually directed her to the world of art.

"I don't consider myself an artist. I just try to have fun & if I can get a laugh from a stranger, then I can't help but grin & feel a sense of accomplishment. It's laughter that inspires me.

There are too many serious issues in this world. We all need to take a step back from reality, squint our eyes & giggle at all the different perspectives we see once in a while!"

Jennifer resides in Albuquerque with her son, two dogs & a few skeltons in her closet...
