

Paula Manning-Lewis

I was born an artist, I knew from the time I was 15 that I would always be an artist. 2011 marked my twentieth anniversary as a professional artist. I have always had an intense desire to create. I am fortunate and grateful for my life as an artist and making a living doing something I love and have passion for. Besides family, art is the most important part of my life. Thanks to all the wonderful people who have supported and bought my art, my childhood dream has become a reality.

I live in Albuquerque, New Mexico with my husband, guitarist/composer Aaron Lewis, two dogs and two chickens in a great old house about half a mile from the Rio Grande River. Most days you will find us walking our dogs along the Bosque.

I spend my days working in my home studio. I am also an active participant in the Albuquerque artist community. In 2008, my husband and I cofounded Chroma Studios, professional working studio spaces for artists and musicians. Going strong in our fifth year, we rent private studios in two different locations here in Albuquerque.

I currently work mainly in oils and sometimes acrylics, but I have worked with a variety of mediums. My current body of work is what I call my Spiral Abstracts, more commonly known as Abstract Expressionism.

Artist Statement

My art is all about emotions and energy, light and love. I don't come up with the ideas for my paintings. I am merely the channel that brings them into existence. When I began my current style I had no idea where it was coming from because I had not yet awakened to my purpose in life. The process of finding my signature style was one of self discovery and at the same time, Universal discovery. What I have learned during this time, is my purpose as an artist. What I am here for. My purpose is to share a feeling, an emotion, an energy of love. Love is the most important feeling we as humans can experience. It's the one emotion that stays behind when we leave this life. Love is what we are here for. Love grounds us and makes us soar! My art is my gift. A gift to me from the Universe and a gift from me to you. It's my connection to Spirit and my reason for being here.
