

Scott Murray

These hand painted block prints & works on canvas exemplify my most recent works. Inspired by my own personal visions, universal symbolism & the rock art of primitive peoples, I feel that I have found a bridge between the modern & the ancient worlds. Each piece tells a unique story & is a visual record of events both real & imagined.

Over the past sixteen years, I have been in numerous solo & group shows in the Southwest & on both coasts of the United States. Recent success & appreciation for my work has enabled me to produce artwork on a full time basis & expand my creative horizons.

I reside in an off-the-grid solar community near Taos, New Mexico; I am actively involved in charitable organizations serving humanity, the earth & the animals.
