Chuck Trujillo

I grew up in Denver and attended college in Boulder, CO. My father is a woodworker, so working in the medium has been passed down through the family.

I joined the Peace Corps after college and taught woodworking for three years in a village outside of Marrakesh. I moved on from Peace Corps to the Department of Defense. I worked for 15 years as a woodcrafter, building military trainers at Lowry Training base.

I created the style that I call "Wovenwood", while working at Lowry. We moved to Bosque Farms when Lowry Training base closed. I continued my career making cabinets and furniture. In the Wovenwood style I have created many things including; Tables, Frames, Clocks and Jewelry Boxes.

My Wovenwood style is completely unique, it is my secret recipe of combining unbelievable designs with exotic woods. I love watching people's eyes light up when they see my creations.

Woodworking is my passion and my purpose is to make people happy.
